

Home should never be condemned.

Child and Youth Care workers help young people at risk to work through their abandonment issues and running behaviors. They understand young people need time, safety and acceptance to begin to trust again. They often put their lives at risk going to unsafe places to bring a young person back into their residence.

CYCCanada.ca

Garth Goodwin for the Council of Canadian Child and Youth Care Associations